Presidents Message

Looking for a creative outlet this summer?

This is a great season to beat the heat and expand your artistic skills with a class or workshop. To help get you started, here's a number of opportunities to fit any budget and interest.

Artist's Magazine is a wonderful publication that encompasses most forms of art. Their website is: www.artistsnetwork.com/artists_magazine/ In the back of the magazine under Classifieds, are ads for employment opportunities, Workshops, and Art shows.

If you love to travel internationally, workshops are available this summer. For France call 415-933-9799, Italy call 207-832-5338.

If you are looking to stay in the States there are workshops for The Hudson River 888-665-0044, New Mexico 505-982-0017, and Cape Cod 201-746-0376, just to name a few.

Locally, just about every county has a city college that offers non-credit art classes and most cities have a recreation guide containing classes as well. Try San Dimas 909-394-6200, Claremont 909-399-5490, and La Verne 909-596-8700, they all have classes available. Most cities also offer kids classes to serve the families.

Melanie Phillips, 909-980-0918, offers workshops in her studio. I've taken her classes and she is an amazing artist and a wonderful teacher. She is currently showing her work at the Shameless Self Promoters Show in the Prog. Space, and SoHo Gallery, in Pomona, 909-469-1599.

Art Box Studio, (949) 981-4508, in Upland is another great class.

You are welcome to place an ad in the newsletter if you are also a teacher or know of one.

Have a happy, safe summer,
Debra Walters

CALL TO ARTISTS:

The Millard Sheets Center for the Arts located at Fairplex, Pomona, California, is seeking three artist teams from the greater Los Angeles area to compete against one another to create a 3-dimensional, modern-day interpretation of the Trojan Horse. This public art opportunity is in conjunction with the exhibition at the Millard Sheets Center for the Arts, HOOFPRIENTS:The Horse in Art, Legend, and Action.

The tournament will take place live in front of the fair-going audience of more than 1.5 million, from September 5-28, 2008. Because Fairplex is committed to sustainability, the tournament materials for the Trojan Horse sculptures will be constructed from the Fair's material stockpile, which has been accumulating since the early 1920s. Fairplex has generously offered this gift of recyclable resources so that these materials might once again see the light of the thriving Fair.

Teams will consist of one lead artist and up to seven (7) artists/ technician helpers. Teams chosen to participate in this competition will be amazed at the multitude of construction supplies available to them. Materials include, but are not limited to, lumber, metal, glass, concrete, rubber/plastics, old vehicles, forklift, motors, 12 engine blocks, electrical paraphernalia, conduit, cables, etc. This is truly a Trojan's trove!
